9/30/11 - experience with LOGMEIN

Is anyone using the Free Logmein program (were you can access your home computer from anywhere) or something similar?   If so, how is it working for you?

Yes. I can be home and access my work computer and it is like I am sitting at my desk. I use it for board stuff and grants anything that does not have confidential info. (Wichita Falls)
***
The City of Garland has a similar system where I can access certain programs at home. I am not sure of the name of the program.
***
I use the Logmein program and I love it! I can work from anywhere (as long as no one turns off my office desktop). It is easy to use and convenient. ---Gregory HA
****
Yes- GoToMyPc. & it works great. www.gotomypc.com. $19.95/month.
(Schertz)
***
The Logmein program works well, being part of the Microsoft Partner Network my son's IT business has used this program for several years to provide remote support services to computers around the world. (Bartlett)
***
I use "Go to my pc". It works pretty good. (Thorndale)
***
Log Me In- Have used this for years at several places. When it works- it works great. It usually does work but of course, I don't really understand the "magic" of technology! (Frisco)
***
I have used the $69 version of logmein for several months and I love it.The $69 is per year and you can print on your home computer. The only thing I have found that I do not like is it is too easy to do work from my home. (Grayson Co)
***
Yes; however, I don't believe that 'Logmein' is free; it is more of a support tool used to remotely troubleshoot issues...Remote Desktop Protocol (RDP) is a packaged Windows freebee. (Galveston